Royal Duo To Reign At Dance Saturday

Balloting for Fiesta Queen and King candidates will end today. Voting is now taking place in the Quad area and under the marquee on the hill from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 7 to 8:30 in the evening.

Presentation of the candidates will highlight the Fiesta Dance which begins at 9 p.m. in the Women's Gym, Saturday. Dress for the dance will be western. Admission is free with one student body

Music for the dance will be provided by Julie Ross, his orchestra and vocalist Gene Bruce.

According to Louis Berger, former Inter-Organization Council chairman, all those not in western dress will be escorted to jail and be required to pay a slight fine.

"We are hoping to donate all money collected from fining to the Green and Gold Fund," he said.

This Fiesta, said Berger, has shown more participation, events and posters than any other. Although classes were not excused for the assembly Tuesday for introduction of candidates and entertainment by the Gateway Singers, "more than 1000 people attended."

Announcement of the Queen and King will take place between 10:30 and 11 p.m., according to Ron Gordon, Fiesta committee chairman. Mrs. Nena Royer, dean of student activities, is contacting Joan Pellegrino, last year's Queen, to crown the new Queen, said Gordon.

"This dance will have a bigger turnout than the Homecoming Dance. We are expecting between 500-600 people," he said.

Fiesta night, May 22, will also enforce western dress, with the penalty of jail. Club booths will host refreshments, games and

His talk will consist of such topics of interest to touring students as cost

'Greenstuff' Needed

Where is the gold and "greenstuff" going to come from next semester when students ask for loans from the Green and Gold Fund? Nearly $1500 is owed to the fund by students who are delinquent in repaying this debt.

Therefore, the basic $2000 fund is now depleted to about $300, according to Conley Gibson, bursar. With loans averaging about $25 to $35 each, this won't go far.

Some 45 debtors are delinquent in repaying, he said, and something must be done to curb this. Why should next semester's students who really need a loan suffer from a lack of available funds because of these students who are conveniently forgetting their debts?

Since the Star published the news concerning debts owed the fund, Gibson has had some "fair" action from students repaying what they owe. Kermit Dale, asistant dean of student activities, has had "good" results, said Gibson. But this is hardly enough. For even though some money is coming in, the bulk remains in the deficit.

The bursar's office is sending numerous letters to the debtors and perhaps Gibson will have to resort to a collection agency if funds do not start returning. This has been done in the past, he said.

"If only we could hear from some of these students," said Gibson. "If we could know the reasons why they're having trouble paying back their debts, perhaps these steps would not have to be taken."

At present, students are being excluded from classes for nonpayment. This is a blot on the entire student body.

Could be that the trouble with the fund is that while reasons given for borrowing money may be true, perhaps they're not immediately demanding of a loan. Are car payments or rent installments valid reasons for delving into a student fund?

It is difficult to answer this, for these very payments may make the difference whether or not a student will be able to remain in school. But someone has to decide on the validity of claims. Why not authorize a student-faculty committee, as the fund is presumed to already have, which will review each claim as it comes in?

Executive Council members, perhaps the president, vice president and treasurer; and Dale and Gibson would compose the committee. Here, the decision can be made on a solely objective level and

Steps must be taken. That is obvious. If not, the cash register will be empty when students requiring valid financial aid apply for

Duties Overlap

Sometimes the antics of student government are humorous, ing to Dr. Jackson Mayers, sociology sometimes serious and on occasion ridiculous.

But when a body of 15 elected officers has five resignations, two nominations, acceptances and resignations before an ensuing meeting, and three parliamentarians in 12 weeks, it ceases to be an antic and becomes a serious problem.

Either there is a lack of desire to serve the students in the first place or those seeking and winning offices found that it was a hard working job and not a matter of resting on their laurels of victory.

It is probably the lack of glory that students expect to have when they are elected to office. They should realize that when they place themselves in contention for a student government office they are saying, in effect, "I am willing to accept whatever responsibility you, the electors, want me to have and I will do the job to the best of my "the Valley has grown by about 391,-

But a problem arises when a person is elected to an office and attempts to fill it. Many of the jobs are lost in the shuffle or overlap so badly no one knows what to do in his capicity.

Our student government has appointed a committee to investigate what each position is supposed to do. The leads to the proposed constitutional amendment which calls for still another office on the Executive Council to represent the scholastic side of campus life. We already have a Coordinator of Campus Activities whose job it is, theoretically at least, to coordinate activities on campus. In other words, the new office will cause more duplication of jobs and another body to become disinterested and confused in his job.

We could easily eliminate many council offices without hurting the efficiency of our student government. Seven offices, including the proposed office, could all fall under the auspices of the Coordinator of Campus Activities. These offices are commissioner of women's athletics, commissioner of men's athletics, commissioner of assemplies and rallies, the proposed commissioner of scholastic activities, and the freshman and sophmore presidents.

The class officers apparently are puppet heads of defunct organizations since they have no organization and they could not meet IOC standards and have no representation there.

Rather than create new offices and more confusion to the governing body of Valley College, the number of necessary offices could be limited to the few students who want office and are interested in

Graduation Needs Highlight

Graduation is nearing for many Valley students and plans are being formulated for the ninth annual graduation exercises. For many terminal students, the graduation ceremony and the receipt of the diploma will mark the end of two years of higher education studies.

Others planning to continue their education at a four-year university or college may not be too concerned with being graduated from Valley because of their future plans.

Nevertheless, being graduated and receiving an A.A. degree does mark a significant niche on the ladder of success.

Tradition has apparently been set at Valley regarding graduation exercises. For the first five years, Valley's president, Dr. Vierling Kersey, gave the commencement address.

During the past three years, President Walter Coultas addressed the audience. This year Coultas will confer the degrees and Dr. Arnold Fletcher, former history instructor, will deliver the principle Certainly, there is nothing wrong with the college presidents or an in-class. But I do believe the event is sigguest speaker, either a prominent civic official or an educator from another college or university. In keeping with the philosophy of allowing the students to do most of the deciding of student affairs, President Coultas desires the sophomore officers to work with Mrs. Nena Royer, dean of student activities, to plan the graduation ceremonies

Again, there is nothing wrong with this. But let's look at the situation this semester. There is only one sophomore officer, Dick Murphy, president. Also, the lack of funds places heavy restrictions on the graduation plans. This semester's budget allots $150 for graduation. In detail, this amount reads $50 for lights and maintenance structor speaking to a graduating and $100 for flowers and miscellane-

> Why is so little money put into the graduation fund? No one has ever requested money and accordingly, the bursar, Conley Gibson, puts in a token figure to cover the necessary amount needed to conduct a graduation at

More time, effort and money should be put into an event which will be remembered for a lifetime.

It should be marked with the presence of an outstanding personality one who will be name enough to make Valley's graduation ceremonies important enough to highlight the climax of attending Valley College.

Alternate Reality Created by Poets

By LARRY SMITH, Star Staff Writer

"Poetry in an Industrial Civilization" was indirectly covered by Stephen Spender, poet, writer and literary critic, in a lecture

Spender, speaking at a special Athenaeum presentation, discussed the history of poetry and the problems and attitudes of today's poets, in addition to the ef-

He began the lecture by telling a little of the history of poetry and its

"Up to about the 19th century, poetry was near the center of society," Spender said. "The things that society he was doing "by request." was concerned with were a part of, predominant in and the basis for most of the poetry of that time."

Spender then explained to the audience of approximateyl 450 people, that industrialization during the 19th century left poetry behind.

Some poets of the time continued with the traditional line of writing, while others became inspired by the realities of the industrial revolution.

"Those who continued in the traditional line actually developed Romanticism in poetry," Spender asid. "Romanticism offered an alternate reality, one created by the poet, to the reality of life, science and industry."

On the other hand, some poets of the 19th and 20th centuries concerned themselves with the alternative of creating a poetry which was based upon the realities of the world.

The problem then became the problem of finding a medium of expressio ton apply to reality. Some of the earlier poets tried to apply a "Romantic idiom to a modern situation, which led to uneasiness of language.'

Insure Shade For Future

Reversing the usual procedure, the Can-Te-O-Oze Campfire Girls are preparing Valley College for the time when they will be enrolled here as students.

Seven girls, all sixth grade students at Burbank Boulevard and Monlux Elementary schools, presented an oak tree to Valley last week, assuring themselves of a shady spot in which to study when they are old enough to attend Valley.

The girls, Sue Afriat, Jo Ann Crasno, Madelyn Marcus, Nell Maehl, Maxine Otchis, Elisabeth Richner and Vicki Temkin, were accompanied by their guardian Mrs. Florence Temkin and their co-leader, Mrs. Leona

Interest Arises

After hearing of a tree planting program to beautify Valley campus, the girls asked permission to participate in the program as a community service. This is part of the philosophy of their organization.

Mrs. Temkin is a Patrician Club member and a student at Valley. President Walter T. Coultas, now assistant superintendent of schools in charge of two-year colleges, and Mrs. Nena Royer, dean of student activities, accepted the tree for the college.

Also participating in the presentation were George Hale, botany instructor and chairman of the Campus Beautiful Committee, and Mrs. Charlotte Novak, president of the Patri-

Quad Talkers To Discuss Free Medicine

Free medical care from "the cradle to the grave" will be advocated by Cort Smith, Forensic Club member, at today's noon debate of the Quad Wranglers.

Smith said he favors socialized medicine in the United States as an effective approach to bring the patient closer to the doctor. Too many doctors are charging patients with high medical fees and they often quote higher fees than the patients are able to pay, he added.

Socialized medicine, as practiced in European countries such as Great Britain and France, provides free medical care to its entire population. In those countries the government furnishes doctors, hospitals and other medical facilities for the welfare of Another aspect of socialized medicine, Smith said, would be the removal of "quacks and high-priced doctors from our medical scene.'

Smith, along with Sandra Mahannah, Bill Edler, Don Hiskey, Charles Masciotra and John Des Lauriers are members of the Forensic Club who have spoken at the Quad Wrangler sessions recently. According to John Prescott, Foren-

Student Government Favors Reading Bill

A resolution was passed by executive council members from junior colleges throughout the state that the California Junior College Student Government Association go on record in support of Assembly Bill 1328 permitting sectarian literature to be included in secondary school libraries, according to Gene Mahn, Associated Students president.

Included in "sectarian" literature is material which may be "considered of educational value" to students.

Meeting in Long Beach over the weekend, council members from approximately 60 colleges passed a resolution that the supporting statement of the library bill be forwarded to the presiding officer of the State legislature by tomorrow when the bill is expected to be presented, Mahn said.

The motion was made by Mahn in the student government workshop before it was presented to the general assembly for consideration.

Favor Consolation

Also passed by the council representatives was a resolution that the CJCSGA go on record as favoring a consolation bracket in the state baskethall tournament, according to Mahn. At the present time, the state junior college basketball tourney is a single elimination, and most colleges feel that a double elimination bracket would be "more desirable."

This idea was first presented in the athletics workshop by American River Junior College.

Defeated in the general assembly was a motion that the State Athletic Code be re-evaluated with respect to the subsidization of athletics, Mahn said. This also was brought up in the athletics workshop.

Another plan presented by the athletic workshop was that a North-South junior college football playoff be arranged. This suggestion will be sent tomorrow to the State Athletic Commission for thought, Mahn said.

Pass Resolutions

Other resolutions passed included popular election of song and yell leaders, planning of school assemblies, distributing of financial statements at the next convention, favoring of a tax exemption bill and disposing of surplus funds collected by CJCSGA. Valley representatives who attended the convention were Mahn; Mike O'Harro, treasurer; Janet Pugh, secretary: Roni Liles, commissioner of women's athletics; Myrna Peterkin, commissioner of publicity; Mrs. Nena Royer, dean of student activities; and Kermit Dale, assistant dean.

Nassi predicts that combined fall enrollment at Valley will rise by more than 1000 students, bringing the college's student body to a new high of 10,000 plus.

Nassi urges students to register for both fall and summer classes as early as possible. Summer session begins Monday, July 6, with fall semester classes opening Monday, September

Students who are on probation or are being provisionally re-admitted must bring their mid-term grades with them when they meet with their counselors, Nassi said.

Music, perhaps not the type to sooth the nerves, but music, for the cafeteria, is one of the future plans of KVJC, Valley College radio station. Services rendered by the station have included reminding students to turn on parking lights on foggy days, announcements to veterans to sign their vouchers, which has, said Mrs. Economides, "reportedly brought a great influx to the office," reporting social functions and registration

The studio, from which the familiar sound of "this is your Valley College radio station, KVJC," was designed by Mrs. Economides. Aside from performing functions for the general student body, the broadcasting class has even cut a record for one of the students' Polish pen pals.

There's more variety for women, however, as dress goes from gingham dresses to levis to "rodeo gal."

"I'm going to wear a plaid shirt, skirt and a ten-gallon hat around my neck," one coed said. Others agree on old-fashioned gingham dresses.

"Most people around here don't know what real western dress is," came from a former Wyoming girl. "The 'real McCoy' of today doesn't look at all like the romantic figure he's being pictured as."

Then, of course, there are always the rebels who feel that "I'll pay the penalty before I'll come decked out in such garb."

Fantasy, gaiety and fun annually penetrate Valley in full force bringing with them the spirit of Fiesta. Mix beauty and grace, mingle it with wild facial adornments, spice it with a variety of games, food and drinks, then fuse it together to obtain some of the ingredients of Fiesta.

Fiesta owes its beginnings to Los Amigos del Valle, the Spanish Club. In Spring of '51 the Spanish Club decided to hold a fiesta to raise money for their Homecoming float. Little did Valley's most valued traditions.

Following 411/2 years of dedicated service to the Los Angeles Board of Education, Miss Dorothy Clark will retire as secretary of Los Angeles Valley College at the end of the semester.

She will bid adieu to Valley June 30 and will board the SS Lurline Sept. 9 on a long-anticipated trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

In 1951 she was designated by Walter Cocking, chairman, board of editors, American Publishing Corp., at a meeting of school secretaries in Berkeley, as the "Best Educational Secretary in Public Schools in the United States."

'Dedicated Service'

This national recognition was based on "the delightful qualities of her personality, the faithfulness of her spirit of duty, the happy unselfish nature of her job life, the service dedication which characterized her loyalty and her generous helpfulness to all whom she met in service."

President Walter T. Coultas, for whom she has worked since 1955, said, "Ever since Miss Clark came to Vallev, she has been the person on whom we all rely. She is as much a part of the administration of this school as any director or president."

Dr. Vierling Kersey, first director of Valley, who has known Miss Clark since her high school days, referred to her as the "secretary-genius in performing big and little services that keep smoothness, sweetness, accomplishment and reality in the offices of chief administrators."

Office Staff Speaks

Speaking for the office staff, Mrs. Vernetta Kennedy, supervisory clerk, said, "The warmth of her personality is shown every day in many instances as she gives of herself to make the load of our jobs lighter."

At a buffet supper hosted by five Valley women instructors, the entire women's faculty and wives of the administrators paid tribute to Miss Clark at a bon voyage party last week.

The guest of honor received a gift from the faculty and a lei, accompanied by a card made by Miss Marie Scott, art instructor.

Miss Clark has watched public education take hold and grow from the "old days of continuation school" at Metropolitan High School (now the Junior College of Business) to the point where Los Angeles now boasts seven junior colleges. Holds Same Job

She has devoted her entire career life to one job—with the Los Angeles Board of Education.

In 1919, two years after her graduation from Polytechnic High, she became assistant secretary of Polytechnic Evening School, of which Dr. Kersey was principal. At that time the school boasted 5500 students and was the largest of its kind in the

She remained there 13 years until, in 1939, she was selected to be the secretary of the Superintendent of Schools for the city of Los Angeles. She continued to serve in that capacity until 1949, when she came to Valley as secretary.

She has pioneered in more phases of Los Angeles life than education. A native Angeleno, she has watched the district where she was born grow from a settlement of farms and wheat fields into a thickly populated metropolitan area.

Following her trip to Hawaii next fall, she plans a tour of the United States by car and a trip to Alaska by boat from Vancouver, British Colum-

Lion Nine Finishes Strong To Escape Metro Cellar

Duplicating last year's seventh place finish, the Monarch baseball team closed out the Metropolitan Conference season with a 5-9 record. Coach Charlie Mann's squad finished strong by winning three of its final four conference games.

Two errors by Lion third baseman Bob Loft in the bottom half of the 14th inning enabled El Camino to score a 2-1 win over Valley in the final conference game of the season, last Tuesday on the Warriors' field.

With one out and the bases loaded in the 14th frame, a Warrior outfielder hit a high "chopper" to Loft who stepped on third for the second out but threw wildly over Bruce West's head as the wining run scored.

Tom McKenzie, pitching with a broken finger on his right hand, won his second game of the season as in the high bar and tied with Mel Valley outlasted Bakersfield 4-3 Friday on Pike Field

For the second time in the last three years the final conference standings found three Metro teams tied for the championship as San Diego, Harbor and El Camino all survived last Tuesday's games.

As a result of a vote by each of the eight colleges in the Metro Conference, San Diego won the right to compete in the Southern California semi-finals, which will determine the team to represent the South in the State Championships.

Carter, Farlow, Wilson Eye New Track Standards

Three Valley tracksters hope for record performances in the ninth annual Metropolitan Conference finals at Bakersfield Saturday after finishing in a 10th place tie with Santa Monica in the West Coast Relays held at Fresno. Prelims start at 1 p.m. with finals slated for 7 p.m.

Wayne Farlow in the 880 is only 1.1 seconds off the meet record with his 1:56.2 effort and Roman Carter has high jumped within two inches of the meet record with a 6'434" leap.

Bob Wilson in the sprints has done 9.8 and 20.8 (wind aided) as the second best times in the conference behind Jim Bates of East LA, who gave Wilson his first Metro loss at East LA. San Diego's Ed Buchanan (9.8 and 20.8) and East LA's Art Jenkins (9.8) also pose threats.

Takes Third

Also Valley's mile relay team of Wilson, Lewis, Marty Thall and Farlow will take the third best Metro time in hope of a win. Their 3:20.4 places behind East LA's 3:18.1 and Long Beach's 3:18.5.

Farlow faces stiffest competition from Bakersfield's Leland Shephard (1:57.2) and El Camino's Steve Maynard (1:57.5). The current record is 1:55. Farlow is undefeated in Metro competition this year.

Norm Grundy of Harbor has leaped 6'7" and makes Carter's job in the high jump a sure record buster if he Wins Title Long Beach won the junior college division of the West Coast Relays, amassing a total of 35 points. East LA with 26, Glendale with 25, and Valley's distance medley team bettered the existing school record in posting a non-winning time of 10:31. Alonzo Randall's 49.8 440, Farlow's 1:56.4 880, Lewis' 3:11.1 1320 and Angelo Corallis' 4:33.9 mile comprised the record effort.

Bakersfield followed in that order.

In the same race, Bakersfield chalked up a new national junior college and West Coast Relays record with a time of 10:09.8.

In the mile relay, Valley's team of Randall, Thall, Wilson and Farlow placed third to East LA in the time of 3:20.4.

Bob Wilson took a first in his heat of the century, running a 9.8. He later went on to take a third in the finals in a 9.9 clocking.
